01 What was detected

- With the Presidential and National Assembly elections due on Saturday, 16 January 2027, the voter count in INEC's 2027 Preliminary Voter Register for 241 polling units in all 13 LGAs of Ebonyi State differs sharply from the 2023 register for the same units.
- 233 units went up: together they had 89,793 registered voters in 2023 and now show 184,525, an addition of 94,732 voters (+106%). 91 of them more than tripled.
- Far beyond normal growth. Ebonyi's whole register grew by 9.4% from 2019 to 2023, and the 2027 preliminary register is 14.4% above 2023 for the state as a whole. 232 of the 233 units that went up rose by more than twice the state's 2027 rate; not one of them rose by less than the state rate.
- 8 units went down, by 3,407 voters in all. Net change across the flagged units: +91,325.
- Ebonyi South carries the heaviest load. Ebonyi South has 80 flagged units and +45,375 voters added, 48% of the state's addition. Its Ivo/Ohaozara/Onicha federal constituency alone accounts for +30,835.
- Onicha stands out. Onicha LGA has 29 flagged units and +25,354 voters added (+130% in the units that rose), followed by Izzi (+12,507) and Afikpo South (+11,939).
- The additions cluster in a few wards. The top 10 wards account for 48,177 of the 94,732 voters added (51%). Amanator-Isu ward in Onicha alone has 14 flagged units and +16,517 voters.
- Near-empty units filled up. 21 units with fewer than 60 registered voters in 2023 now show 250 or more; for example Ekula Pri. Sch. III (Afikpo South) went from 50 to 1,013 and Enyibichiri Amuda Town Hall (Ikwo) went from 26 to 880.
- Largest single addition: Isu Achara Town Hall (11-13-03-025, Amanator-Isu ward, Onicha), from 992 to 4,485 (+3,493).
- 1 polling unit could not be found on INEC's display portal when it was entered (C.P.S Akaeze Ukwu, 11-09-02-001, Ivo; 662 voters in 2023). It is left out of every count and listed in the annex.

08 What should happen next

- Verify the register on the ground. Opposition ward and polling unit coordinators should check the displayed voter list for each flagged unit, starting with Amanator-Isu and Agbabor-Isu in Onicha, Amiri and Ndioke Ekoli in Afikpo South, and the other 51 hotspot wards. Note names unknown in the community, duplicates, under-age registrants and people who do not live there.
- Check that genuine voters are still there. Padding can go with quiet removals. In each flagged unit, coordinators should confirm that known opposition supporters are still on the displayed register and help anyone missing to file a claim before the display period closes.
- File claims and objections. During INEC's display of the register, lodge objections at the INEC office in each LGA against questionable entries. Keep copies with dates and names of the officials who received them; they are evidence later.
- Write to INEC. Send this list, with ground findings, to the Resident Electoral Commissioner, Mrs Pauline Ugochi Onyeka (INEC Ebonyi State Office, Abakaliki), and copy INEC headquarters, asking for an audit of registrations and transfers into these units and the BVAS records behind them, before the final register is published on 15 December 2026.
- Put strong agents in every flagged unit on election day. Each of the 241 units needs a trained, accredited opposition polling agent who stays from setup to upload. The agent should count voters as they are accredited on the BVAS, refuse any vote without BVAS accreditation, and record the BVAS accreditation figure on the EC8A.
- Watch for over-voting and padded figures. An inflated register is only useful to riggers if extra votes are written in. Agents should check that votes cast do not exceed BVAS accreditation, photograph the signed EC8A before it leaves the unit, and confirm the same sheet appears on IReV.
- Follow the result to collation. Ward and LGA collation agents should compare each flagged unit's figures with the photographed EC8A and challenge any entry that differs, citing this report.
- Keep the evidence for any petition. File photographs, objection receipts and agent reports by unit. All of the 241 flagged units rest on a single entry on the Reeg & Dai platform, so confirm each with a second, independent entry before citing it publicly.

How this was measured. The data was collected and made available by the Reeg & Dai platform, which detects suspicious changes in INEC's 2027 Preliminary Voter Register, and analysed on the Election Manager Analytics platform. It compares each polling unit's count in the 2027 preliminary register with INEC's 2023 register; areas follow INEC's 2023 polling unit list. Units recorded as 9999 could not be found on INEC's display portal and are excluded. These are detections for verification, not final findings: a rise can also come from lawful new registrations or transfers, and a fall from lawful clean-up of the register.

A Annex: polling unit not found on INEC's display portal (1)

Recorded as 9999 on the Reeg & Dai platform: the code could not be found on INEC's display portal when it was entered. It is not counted anywhere else in this report.
